In beeld wordt gebracht wat er langs deze route allemaal veranderd is en wat er aan voorbereidend werk wordt gedaan ivm de aanstaande elektrificatie van het traject: stalen spoorbruggen en bovenleidingen zijn aangelegd; in de oorlog vernielde stations opnieuw opgebouwd; perrons worden verhoogd (elektrische treinen staan hoger op hun wielen); onderstations gebouwd met transformatoren en isolatoren; 01:19 Miljoenenlijntje. De enkelspoorverbinding tussen tussen Simpelveld en Heerlen loopt door zeer geaccidenteerd terrein en dankt zijn bijnaam aan het feit dat door deze terreinsgesteldheid de aanleg destijds één miljoen gulden per kilometer kostte vanwege de vele spoordijken en viaducten die moesten worden aangelegd. Een stoomtrein wordt nu met de camera gevolgd op zijn rit over het lijntje en de div. dijken en viaducten en de omgeving worden daarbij in beeld gebracht. Het lijntje werd de laatste tijd alleen gebruikt voor kolenvervoer, omdat personenvervoer niet rendeerde. Nu wordt het, op verzoek van de burgemeesters, op proef opnieuw in gebruik genomen voor reizigersvervoer. De tussengelegen stationnetjes worden daarom opgeknapt.

Original Value: De fragmenten zijn zeer dun en lichtjes gebogen, wat betekent dat ze niet afkomstig zijn van een palet maar wel van een zeer vlakke kom die aan de binnenkant versierd is. De decoratie kan niet in zijn geheel gereconstrueerd worden, maar men herkent een wezen dat zowel menselijke als dierlijke kenmerken vertoont. Het betreft waarschijnlijk de kever "Agrypnus notodonta". Men vindt hem terug op enkele protodynastieke documenten als heilig dier van de godin Neith. Het insect houdt een was-scepter vast in de rechterpoot. Opgraving: Amélineau/Petrie

Original Language: NL

Translation: The fragments are very thin and slightly bent, meaning that they do not come from a palette, but rather from a very flat bowl decorated on the inside. The decoration cannot be reconstructed in its entirety, but a creature with both human and animal characteristics is recognized. It probably concerns the beetle 'Agrypnus notodonta.' It is found on some protodynastic documents as a sacred animal of the goddess Neith. The insect holds a wax sceptre in the right leg.

Original Value: Vaas. De Giyan IV fase is vooral gekend door een necropool met 19 graven waarin bijzonder veel aardewerk werd aangetroffen. De beschilderde voorraadvazen zijn kenmerkend voor deze fase. De grootste exemplaren hebben meestal horizontale en golvende reliëfbanden. De beschildering is beperkt tot de hals en de schouder van de vaas. Tot de kenmerkende motieven behoren, buiten de horizontale geometrische banden, "kamvormige" paren vogels, heraldische vogels met opengespreide vleugels, soms gecombineerd met zwemmende vogels en rijen zaagtanden. Original Value: De ontdekking van de “koningsgraven van Ur” door C.L. Woolley vormde een mijlpaal in de geschiedenis van de archeologie van het Tweestromenland en zorgde voor heel wat sensatie in pers door de rijke grafgiften en de macabere vorm waarin ze bijgezet werden. In een ruim voorvertrek van het graf van Pu-abī, tweede vrouw van koning Meskalamdug, werden de lijken aangetroffen van verscheidene mannelijke en vrouwelijke dienaars die hun meesteres in de dood gevolgd waren. Ze waren gewurgd of hadden met gif zelfmoord gepleegd. De geraamtes van tien hofdames met rijkelijk opgesmukte kapsels lagen in twee rijen van vijf onder rieten matten, naast onder meer een harp en een lier. Waren deze hofdames misschien muzikanten? Verschillende stroken goud, thans gebroken, werden kruiselings over elkaar op en naast de schedels teruggevonden en dienden om de kapsels op hun plaats te houden.

Original Value: Dit basalten rotsblok met de ruw ingekraste afbeeldingen van twee gazellen werd samen met verscheidene andere soortgelijke exemplaren in 1983 ontdekt op de site van Dhuweila in Oost-Jordanië. Dhuweila is een klein prehistorisch jachtkamp dat dateert uit de tweede helft van het 8e millennium, de zogenaamde Pre-Pottery Neolithic B periode. Op grond van het teruggevonden beendermateriaal en de aanwezigheid van talrijke dieren vallen in de omgeving weten we dat de bewoners van Dhuweila zich specialiseerden in de jacht op gazellen. Het is dan ook verleidelijk om te denken dat deze rotsgravingen bedoeld waren om op een of andere magische wijze de afloop van de jacht gunstig te beïnvloeden. Als 'jachtmagie' inderdaad de drijfveer voor deze kunst was, dan laten de meer dan 11.000 beenderen van afgeslachte gazellen die in Dhuweila werden teruggevonden, uitschijnen dat de praktijk bijzonder efficiënt was. D.H.

Original Language: NL

Translation: This basalt boulder with the rough-scratched images of two gazelles was discovered together with several other similar specimens in 1983 on the site of Dhuweila in eastern Jordan. Dhuweila is a small prehistoric hunting camp dating to the second half of the 8th millennium, the so-called Pre-Pottery Neolithic B period. On the basis of the recovered bone material and the presence of numerous animal traps in the surrounding area, we know that the inhabitants of Dhuweila specialised in hunting gazelles. It is therefore tempting to think that these rock excavations were meant to influence the outcome of the hunt in some magical way. If 'hunting magic' was indeed the driving force for this art, the more than 11.000 bones of slaughtered gazelles found in Dhuweila seem to be particularly efficient.

Validation Comment: I have changed a lot of this in the translation. For instance I don't think 'blades' is a good translation of the Dutch 'bladen'. Even in Dutch I find it a strange word, but blades means 'knives'in Dutch. I don't really know a good alternative, but i would definitely look in to this. 'Zeemleer' is nog 'sea leather'. When I google it, I found Shammy Leather. I'm not sure if that is the correct term.

A couple of sentences later there is spoken of the heel and lined with leather. Lined you would say if they talk about the inner material. So I would say here again covered, because it's about the back of the heel.

'The heel is tailord' is I think not the translation they are looking for. I think it is about the heel slight "hang" inside so it fits the foot perfectly, but tailord means made for a certain size. I'm not sure which word would cover this better. Further also some other different translations like: renewed leather, i changed it to roughened. And the last few sentences were a bit of a mess.

Validation Correction: Women's shoe made of cream-coloured shammy leather. Model: Spitse nose, one front and two side blades. Openings on either side of the foot. Standing valve on the instep. Two flaps run over each other from the side blades on which a buckle can be attached. The front of the heel runs in a rounded corner from the middle of the sole straight down. The side and back of the heel are tailored and covered with cream-colored shammy leather. The heel has a dark brown rim of the back patch. Side blades and front blades are lined with cream-colored leather. The insole is brown leather. Between the top of the shoe and the sole a narrow rim of white leather. Roughened leather lap at the back and a roughened leather sole. Decoration: In the middle of the front from the point to the rosette, which is attached centrally on the front shoe, runs a strap of pink rip silk. From the heel to the shaft a ribbon from broached pink and green silk. The shaft is trimmed with pink silk.

I'm not sure if 'walks of life' is the correct translation of 'alle lagen van de bevolking'. This means more something like people from all different levels in wealth.

I changed 'uitgaanshoed' in evening hat. It is more like a hat for fancy outings, not particular for the evening, but I think because you would also refer to a fancy dress as an evening gown.
